

Next Monday is Saturday.

Maize and coffee are advancing in price.

The candidates are becoming more numerous.

The fruit tree peddlers have commenced their canvass.

Some of our merchants are receiving their ring goods.

Have you paid your city taxes? The tax expires to-morrow.

We have had little touches of March weather during the past few days.

The anniversary of Washington's birth was not observed in Anderson.

Several tramps have made their appearance in the city during the past week.

Anderson needs an opera house and a hotel. Why can't we have them?

The celebrated Wizard Oil Advertising couple will be in this city in a few days.

Several car loads of cattle have recently been shipped from Anderson to Charleston.

The matrimonial market is not quite so active in these parts as present as it has been.

Courting a girl is paying her addresses, carrying is paying for her dresses and all to other things.

The small grain is not injured near so much as was supposed several weeks ago, is growing rapidly and looking fine.

Mr. John D. Dobbins, who resides near this city, has a hen that has distinguished herself by laying four eggs in two days—two each day.

We were pleased to meet our old friends, Wm. M. Wilcox, of Elberton, Ga., and John A. Wilcox, of Greenville, S. C., in the city last week.

Rev. A. C. Smith is now the chief editor of the Temperance Worker, at Columbia. He is an able writer, and will do much for the temperance cause.

The power of love can transport a five-pound box of caramels twenty-five blocks for marriage, but after that it breaks down under as little as a gum drop.

Miss Lizzie Williams left on Tuesday for Northern markets, for the purpose of making her purchases for the Spring trade. She will be absent about two weeks.

Mrs. E. C. Snow, wife of Mr. John Q. Snow, of Hartwell, Ga., died in that town on the 17th inst. Mr. Snow has a number of friends in Anderson who sympathize with him in his bereavement.

Married, on the 10th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. S. W. Clink, Mr. Crawford County, Ark., by N. H. Tarnum, Esq., Mr. Madison M. House and Miss Esie E. Clink.

The Anderson Literary Society will hold regular monthly meeting next Tuesday evening, at 4 o'clock, in the office of Messrs. Murray, Breazeale & Murray. The members are urged to attend punctually.

Married, on Wednesday evening, February 13th, 1884, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. James King, by C. Mann, Mr. B. F. Douthett, of Anderson County, to Miss Hattie King, of Oconee County.

We are requested to announce that Rev. P. Bell will preach at Cross Roads Church on next Sunday morning, at 11 o'clock. He goes there under an appointment of the Executive Board of the Saluda Synod.

We are requested to announce that Rev. H. Colton will preach at Midway Church the third Sunday in March. Hereafter services will be held regularly on the first Sunday in each month, instead of on first Sunday, as heretofore.

Our young friend, Amos Adams, has been elected an honorary member of one of the Societies of the Gainesville Female College. He thinks it is a high honor, and some of the members of the Society are trying to put up on him.

Mr. A. Lesser makes an announcement the trading public through the columns of the Intelligencer this week. His stock goods are always ready. When you want any dry goods, give him a call, and he will guarantee he will please you in price and quality of goods. Read this advertisement.

Mr. Cyrus E. Hamilton died at his home in Franklin County, Ga., on the 8th inst., the eightieth year of his age. He was born in Anderson County, and resided here until 1853, when he removed to Georgia, where he has since resided. His many friends and acquaintances here will regret the loss of his death.

Every farmer, who is not in the habit of saving, ought to commence at once to keep a record of every dollar expended on his farm throughout the year, and of the proceeds of his crop the following Fall. An account book the next time you go to town. It will prove to be the best investment you ever made.

Henry Davis, a native of this County, now residing in Oconee County, is a remarkable man. He is in the 91st year of age; has had bacon for sale every year for fifty years; never planted a seed of cotton in his life; raised his own tobacco, never having bought but one and a half lbs.; has plenty of money.

Never hunt trouble. However dead a man may be, the gun he carries on such occasions is sure to go off half-cocked. Trouble will come soon enough, and when it comes, receive him as pleasantly as you can. Like the tax collector, he is a greasy chap to have in one's house, and the more amiably you greet him the sooner he will go away.

The season of Lent began yesterday (Ash Wednesday) and lasts for six weeks. Every day from April 18th. Services will be held in the Episcopal Church on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and on Friday morning at 11 o'clock. During the last week of Lent, on Passion Week, services will be held daily at 4 o'clock p. m., except on Good Friday at 11 a. m. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Rachel E. Pruitt, wife of Mr. Joshua Pruitt, died at her home, in Hopewell, Ga., last Friday of consumption, after an illness of several months, aged thirty-three years. Mrs. Pruitt was a member of Mt. Bethel Baptist Church, and her remains were carried there and interred in adjacent graveyard on Saturday, Rev. R. King conducting the funeral services. She leaves a husband and three children, together with a number of friends and relatives, to mourn her death.

The Bonnie Meyer Combination closed engagement in this city last Saturday night, having played five nights to large and appreciative audiences. On Saturday evening a matinee was given, the proceeds of which was donated to the sufferers from the recent cyclone. Miss Bonnie Meyer,

In the rendition of the various roles in which she appeared, fairly captivated the audience, and Mr. J. H. Thorne never failed to bring down the house." We hope the troupe will not pass us by their next tour. We can assure them a full house every time they appear in Anderson.

List of letters remaining in the Postoffice at Anderson for the week ending February 20: Sarah Brown, W. P. Baker, Carrie Benson, Caroline Bert, J. R. Copeland (2), Joe Cosby, Jesse Courier, Mack Dickson, Patrick Dwyer, Everett C. Robertson, J. Gray, J. P. Gray, Emily Hood, Mrs. M. J. Hawley, D. S. Layton, A. W. Kay, Harvey Little, Nancy McCord, G. W. McNair, Thomas McClure, Wm. Nab, Julius Neal, Jesse Robinson, Wash Sadler, Lena Speed, Jas. H. Willes, Sarah Watt, P. V. Williams, E. S. Williams, Miss Mary Williams, Miss Fannie Wilkman.

A few days ago Mr. F. A. Daniels, of Fork township, exhibited in this city an ingeniously arranged cotton planter and guano distributor of his own invention. We did not see it operated, but judging from the explanation given us of it by Mr. Daniels, we think it will be a favorite with the farmers. The advantages claimed for the machine is that it distributes the seed and guano regularly, at the same time depositing the latter several inches under the former, which prevents the guano from being wasted by the wind and causing the plant to derive all the benefit possible from it.

We devote several columns of our paper this week to the particulars of the terrible cyclone of last week. As will be seen the cyclone started at the Gulf of Mexico and extended through portions of Florida, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Tennessee, sweeping everything before it, and causing considerable loss of life. Though pretty severe in our immediate section, it seems we had only a slight touch of the storm in comparison to other sections. In addition to those we mentioned last week as having had property destroyed or damaged, we would mention that Mr. S. C. Majors, who resides two miles southwest of the city, had ten buildings blown down. The chimneys of his dwelling house also were blown down. Pieces of the timbers of his houses were carried a distance of a mile. Mr. J. L. O. Shaw also suffered severely from the storm, his dwelling and out houses in Savannah township being blown away. There was great destruction of timber and quite a number of out houses blown down in this township. The storm seems to have been general all over the County, though no extensive damage was done outside the path of the cyclone. Persons who suffered from the cyclone have been generously aided by their more fortunate neighbors and friends in repairing the damages and rebuilding their out houses and tenant houses. The committee appointed at the meeting of our citizens last week has raised between six and seven hundred dollars, which is being judiciously distributed among the sufferers.

The Circuit Court.

The February Term of our Circuit Court was convened on Monday morning, his Honor Judge Hudson presiding and Solicitor Orr representing the State. The Grand Jury was organized with Mr. S. C. Humphreys as foreman. Judge Hudson delivered a clear, comprehensive and exhaustive charge to the Grand Jury upon their duties and responsibilities.

The following bills of indictment were given to the Grand Jury, and true bills found in each case:

The State vs. Logan Ramey. Carrying a concealed weapon.

The State vs. Logan Ramey and J. A. Ramey. Assault and battery of high and aggravated nature.

The State vs. J. A. Ramey. Carrying a concealed weapon.

The State vs. J. Y. Anderson. Carrying a concealed weapon.

The State vs. Joshua Burroughs, alias Joshua Burris. Obstructing a highway.

The State vs. Logan Ramey and J. A. Ramey. Selling liquor without a license.

The State vs. J. C. Shirley. Bastardy.

The State vs. F. A. Brown. Assault with intent to kill, and assault and battery.

The State vs. Rufus M. Roe. Selling liquor without a license.

The State vs. Wm. F. Martin. Murder.

The State vs. Hamp. Williams. Carrying a concealed weapon.

The State vs. James Loux. Burning an unfinished house.

The State vs. Abraham Lee. Burglary and larceny.

The State vs. John Beck. Selling liquor without a license.

Up to Tuesday evening the following cases have been tried:

The State vs. Neil Reddy. Larceny from the field. Not guilty.

The State vs. Rufus M. Roe. Selling liquor without a license. Plead guilty. Sentenced to pay a fine of $200, or be confined in the County Jail six months.

The State vs. Logan Ramey and J. A. Ramey. Assault and battery of high and aggravated nature and assaulting officers. Not guilty.

The State vs. J. Y. Anderson. Carrying a concealed weapon. Plead guilty.

As we go to press (Wednesday afternoon) the Court is engaged in the trial of Wm. H. Martin for murder.

Judge Hudson is pushing the business of the Court as rapidly as possible. He is one of our hardest working officers, and is one of our clearest and ablest Judges.

The Game Law.

For the information of all concerned, we publish a portion of the game law, as follows:

"It shall not be lawful for any person in this State, between the fifteenth day of March and the first day of October, in any year hereafter, to catch, kill or injure, or to pursue with such intent, or to sell or expose for sale, any wild turkey, partridge, dove, woodcock or pheasant; and any person found guilty shall be fined not less than ten (10) dollars, or be imprisoned not less than ten (10) days, which fine, if imposed, shall go one-half thereof to the informer and the other half to the school fund of the County wherein the offense was committed."

Under the heading of "Insectivorous and other birds," Section 1686, which prohibits any person from taking, killing, selling, exposing for sale or exporting for sale a mocking bird, nonpareil, swallow, bee bird, red bird, wood pecker, thrush or wren, the Legislature at its late session adopted the following amendment: "Provided, That nothing herein contained shall prohibit any person from taking and keeping any bird of song or plumage for his own pleasure or amusement, and not for sale, traffic or gain."

Card of Thanks.

Mr. Editor: I desire through the medium of the Intelligencer to express my sincere thanks to the citizens of Anderson for the sympathy manifested and relief afforded to myself and family, after our serious exposure in the storm of last week. I am deeply indebted to you for the kind and timely aid you have rendered to our family, and for the many kind words you have said in our behalf. I am, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant, R. W. Todd.

The "New Brown Sulky Cultivator."

Messrs. Sullivan & Bro., hardware and machinery dealers, of this city, have recently accepted the agency for the above named Cultivator, one of which they now have on exhibition at their store, and which is attracting considerable attention from the farmers, on account of its being strictly a Southern Cultivator, suited to our cotton and corn beds and water furrows. Heretofore Sulky Cultivators have not been very popular with our farmers on account of their impracticability, our land being too hilly and uneven for their use. In the West and North, however, the Sulky Cultivators are quite popular, the land being better adapted for their use.

With a view of getting up a Cultivator specially adapted to our country, the manufacturers of this implement spent some time in the South experimenting, and the "New Brown Cultivator" is the result. The principal points of difference between this Cultivator and others, as explained to us by the Messrs. Sullivan, are as follows: The Brown has four couplings and four independent plow beams, each beam working by itself, as to width or height. The team pull direct from the plow beams, cultivating deep or shallow, and insuring even depth in hard and soft ground. Seventeen different plows can be attached to it. The adjustable break, which is quite a novelty, does away with pins, springs, &c. The Cultivator is built in a neat and substantial manner, and does not appear to be complicated.

We are always glad to see these new and improved implements introduced into our section, as we think they will undoubtedly prove of great benefit to our farmers. Of late years the improvement of agricultural implements seems to be the main object of inventors, and a great revolution is going on. The farmers are realizing the importance of these implements, for they save both time and labor.

Messrs. Sullivan & Bro. have only had the Brown Cultivator on exhibition a few days, and yet they have sold eight of them. They are sole agents for this Cultivator in Anderson, Abbeville, Laurens, Greenville, Pickens and Oconee Counties. We advise our farmer friends to call at their store and see the Cultivator.

Notes from Williamson.

The recent storm which proved so disastrous in many places did very little material damage in this section. The Pelzer warehouse was partly unroofed. The out-houses of Mr. David Rogers, who lives near the Saluda, a few miles below Williamson, were all unroofed. Three large cedars, having stood the storms of half a century or more in his yard, were uprooted and mangled.

Mr. Berry Poore, who lives near Williamson's Mill, left his house just in time to save himself and family. Mr. Poore was trying to shut the door when, to his astonishment, it was blown off the hinges and across the house in spite of all his efforts to hold it. This did not his wife get out as quick as possible. She obeyed, and he followed with one child under her arm, having taken the precaution to dash a bucket of water on the fire as he passed it. As he leaped from the door the house went in the other direction, completely demolishing everything in it. Such coolness in such trying circumstances is indeed commendable, and certainly very rare.

Mr. Poore is an honest, industrious, economical and successful farmer, and well worthy of the assistance rendered him by his appreciative neighbors in the speedy erection of his house. With more Berry Poore's our country would be better off.

Several of our citizens are speaking of digging "Storm Pits." One, Mr. Austin Clement, has one already, and it would amuse you to see him get in it when the clouds look at all threatening. A rat never got into its retreat with greater alacrity than does Austin into his "Storm Pit."

The Williamson Female College is flourishing under the Presidency of Dr. S. Lander. No more suitable man ever occupied a position of that kind.

The Male School is doing well. Mr. Merriweather, the principal, seems to be at home at the head of a school.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned thanks this method of thanking those, both white and colored, who so kindly helped him repair the damage caused by the recent terrible storm on his premises. Said kindness is appreciated, and will ever be remembered with gratitude. S. C. MAJORS.
